for example, in an older woman with osteopenia at the hip who has a history of a prior fracture, her risk of future fractures determined by frax may be elevated, and treatment would be warranted.